

Stand With Us for Transparency in Crisis Services

At Common Ground, we believe that any change impacting crisis services in Oakland County must be made with full transparency and meaningful public input. The recent decision by Oakland Community Health Network (OCHN) to take over crisis services at the Resource and Crisis Center was made without consulting the community or their own board. This raises serious concerns about the future of crisis care in our region.

We are calling for a pause on this takeover until public hearings can be held and the financial and community impact of this decision is thoroughly reviewed. Your voice matters—help us ensure that decisions affecting our most vulnerable neighbors are made openly and with community involvement.
